Every day, the friendly compassion and kindness we receive from others enhance the quality and joy of our lives. For senior citizens, extensions of gratitude, a helping hand, or an exchange of laughter can hold a special place in their hearts. Understanding the value in these moments is the local companion and homecare team, Sisters for Seniors. Composed of highly devoted caregivers, this rising business is ready to assist mature individuals with household chores, meal preparation, pet care, finances, daily errands, and more, so you can live each day with peace of mind.

In 2014, Sisters for Seniors was established by siblings Stacey Kroll and Stephanie Steffens with the intention of enhancing the lives of senior citizens with love and laughter along the way. Stephanie recalls, "The personal experiences we've had while taking care of our grandmother and father left a lasting impression on us about aging." Stacey adds, "Because of this, we treat each of our clients as if they were our family."

Possessing 35 years of combined experience in human resources and social work-related fields, these sisters have dedicated their supportive spirits to become a helping hand to the mature population within our beloved Venice town. "We begin with an assessment," explains Stephanie. "We want to get to know our clients by figuring out what is going to make life easier for them and make this a valuable experience. Then, it becomes almost like matchmaking. We pair them with one of our staff members and allow them the freedom to decide the rest."

Serving residents in Venice and surrounding areas, Sisters for Seniors is more than a dear companion. Within these communities, caregivers travel to wherever a client calls home—be it a house, condo, or senior living community—and promote a trusting level of relief. Everyone's lifestyle is different, which is why caregivers aid in a variety of ways, day or night. Areas of assistance include companionship, trusted friend, grocery shopping, meal preparation, doing the laundry, changing sheets, dog walking, light cleaning, and organizing. These reliable pals can also attend your appointments with you and take notes on medical recommendations as well as provide transportation to leisure or social activities such as lunchtime out at a favorite restaurant. A loved one's family who may be out of the area can also utilize Sisters for Seniors' one-hour Peace of Mind visits where staff will check in on loved ones during times of concern.

Six-year client Holly Odell happily attests, "Stephanie Steffens and Stacey Kroll are amazing women...They advertise that they treat you like family, but that is an understatement. I have no family here. If there was ever a problem I couldn't figure out, they would come over and help me...I would recommend Sisters for Seniors and you could be sure your family member would be in the best of hands."

As a credit to the company's rising recognition and devotion, Sisters for Seniors received both the Venice Area Chamber of Commerce 2018 Small Business of the Year and the 2018 Business of the Year award from SCORE Southwest Florida. Stacey notes, "We go above and beyond to make sure our clients receive the respect and care they deserve."
