In a single expression, your face can convey what you are feeling. When you are happy, your eyes shine and your mouth curves upward into a beautiful smile. As your most expressive feature, it is no wonder we want to take the utmost care of it.

Aging is inevitable, but we do have the ability to do so gracefully and to turn the hands of time in our favor. A licensed Master Aesthetician and Skin Care Therapist with advanced training in Clinical Aesthetics, Rosa Rodriguez holds over 20 years of experience in the industry. Originally beginning her career in the field of women's health, Rosa explains that, while at Mount Sinai Hospital of New York City, she worked closely with some of the country's top medical professionals. "I noticed have connected with Dr. Mercandetti. He is an outstanding physician and reconstructive surgeon. We both share the same vision for making patients happy by providing them with the best care possible."

"Adding to this growing practice," Rosa adds, "a wide assortment of facial rejuvenation techniques such as micro-needling with a serum or Platelet-Rich Plasma (PRP) from your blood, medical-grade peels and microblading for semi-permanent eyebrows are now available. I'm licensed and insured in a number of advanced modalities, including permanent cosmetic application, and the Exilis Advanced Skin Tightening and Body Sculpting treatment. This popular, non-surgical treatment is used to stimulate collagen production, reduce the visibility of wrinkles, and tone and tighten skin. Our guests can continue to pamper their skin by taking home organic and natural products like the new daily essentials line by HydraFacial, items that assist in repairing sun damage, and even a holistic, anti-aging regimen."

patients were complaining about issues with their skin, so I felt compelled to help them," she shares, "which is what led me to pursue a skincare career." Once formally trained and licensed, Rosa joined a physician's group of dermatologists, where she was able to consult and treat between 20 to 30 clients a day. She notes, "Together, we helped our clients achieve amazing results with their skin conditions and concerns."

Rosa's passion for skincare, health, beauty and rejuvenation was sealed when she embarked into the field of Plastic Surgery and Advanced Medical Aesthetics. Now working closely with Dr. Michael Mercandetti, Rosa continues to strengthen her skillset and shares, "I feel very fortunate to
